

We are Engineered Marine Products®

For over 30 years, Engineered Marine Products® has been successfully serving the OEM and marine after-market by providing superior quality marine products at affordable prices. EMP has developed or purchased thousands of tools, allowing us to produce many of our products in house. This allows us to control the quality of our parts and let us offer OEM quality at every level.

WHY WE ARE DIFFERENT

EMP recognizes that each customer has a unique focus and cannot be well served by one strategy. Our goal is to serve each company's individual needs by effectively engineering, sourcing, and producing products in both the domestic and international markets.

IT IS NEVER "JUST BUSINESS".

We treat our customers and vendors as friends and partners. EMP sets itself apart by developing and sustaining true relationships with those whom we do business. This practice has led to a high level of mutual respect which has allowed us to build, the most competitive and comprehensive program on the market today. At EMP, we pride ourselves in treating every customer with the same personal and professional courtesy. No matter if you have the needs of a large scale OEM or if you are a small re-builder, you can count on EMP!

WHAT WE ARE MADE OF

While EMP makes many of its products in-house, we have recognized the benefits with partnering with companies on the leading edge of technology who offer the greatest overall value. This allows us to keep higher production rates without sacrificing quality at both the OEM and after-market levels.

QUALITY MATTERS<sup>SM</sup>

EMP is constantly researching and developing new ways to improve upon products that already exist in the market as well as more efficient ways to develop those products without sacrificing - and often improving - overall quality. By always meeting or exceeding OEM specifications, EMP delivers a product that you and your customers can count on.
